1. Background and methodology

TNS-BMRB has been commissioned by Volunteer Development Scotland to conduct research into current and potential levels of volunteering in Scotland.

This research was conducted amongst the population of Scotland, using the TNS-BMRB Omnibus, Scottish Opinion Survey, as the means of data collection. A sample of 1,033 adults was interviewed in 55 constituencies throughout Scotland over the period 26th October – 2nd November 2011. All interviews were conducted face-to-face, in-home using CAPI (Computer Assisted Personal Interviewing), using quota sampling.

To ensure that the sample was representative of the adult population in terms of age, sex and class, it was weighted to match population estimates from the BARB (Broadcasters' Audience Research Board) Establishment Survey 2 Years Ending December 2008 and the 2001 Census. The sample profile, both unweighted and weighted, is shown below.

Table 1 – Sample Profile

Data tables in this document show both the weighted and unweighted base sizes at a total and sub-group level.

The final questionnaire used in the survey follows as an appendix.

41 interviewers were used as part of the survey, with a minimum of 10% of interviews being checked following the fieldwork. Verification is carried out at TNS' head office, mainly on the telephone, by trained validators. Interviewer assignments are systematically selected for validation.

Appendix II: Glossary of terms and notes on tables

CAPI - Computer Assisted Personal Interviewing is conducted face-to-face, employing flat screen monitors similar to laptop computers. The questions appear on screen for the interviewer to ask the question and the appropriate response codes are keyed in directly according to the respondent's answers.

Fieldwork - The collection of primary data from respondents by means of a survey.

Mean scores – Mean scores are calculated by attributing a value to the response a respondent gives and the mean score gives an 'average' of the responses. e.g on a 5 point Agree strongly to Disagree Strongly scale, the values given are Agree strongly (+2), Agree slightly (+1), Neither agree nor disagree (0), Disagree slightly (-1), Disagree strongly (-2).

Quota - The specification to which respondents for interviews are recruited. This involves specifying the number of interviews required within certain groups – e.g. the number of males and females, those within certain age groups etc.

Sample - A part or subset of a population taken to be representative of the population as a whole for the investigative purposes of research.

Sample points – number of specific areas where the research took place – these are selected via our sampling unit to represent the geographic distribution of the population.

SEG - Social Economic Group. The standard six social grades, commonly used in research, are based on the current or previous occupation of the chief income earner in the household. ABC1 includes professional, managerial and non-manual occupations, while C2DE includes manual and unskilled occupations and the long-term unemployed.

Unweighted – the raw data or sample as collected, with no adjustments.

Weighted – Weighted data analyses adjust the raw survey data to represent the population from which the sample is drawn, in this instance, the adult population of the UK.

Notes on Tables

The weighted bases are shown in the second row of the table. The percentages are calculated on these weighted bases and all the other figures in the table are also weighted ones.

The tables show both actual numbers and percentages. These percentages are usually based on the column totals. If the percentages have been calculated by rows, then '100%' will appear opposite each row in the TOTAL column.

Percentages are rounded to the nearest whole number. This may cause some mutually exclusive categories to sum to slightly more than or less than 100%.

Any percentages calculated on small bases should be treated with caution as they may be subject to wide margins of sampling error. This is particularly true if the base comprises less than 100 respondents.

" - " Indicates a value of zero. " * " indicates a number or percentage less than 0.5.

For questions where more than one answer is allowed, the percentages representing different responses may well add to considerably more than 100%.

'Nets' or 'overcodes' are sometimes used to cover two or more responses. If a respondent has made more than one of these responses, he or she will only be counted once in the overcode total, which may therefore be less than the sum of the figures for the individual responses.

Where mean scores and standard errors have been calculated, the results will be shown at the foot of the table. If they have been calculated from the answers to a question in the form of a scale, the scores used will be shown next to each row label. When calculating mean scores, 'Don't know' responses are excluded from the calculations.
